

Abstract of the Disclosure

A combination product for the detection of bacteria. The product includes at least one oxidizing metal complex and at least one substrate containing an indoxyl derivative resulting in an insoluble colored compound for use simultaneously, separately or spread out over time.